

Kyowa Shipping donates to private schools

Three private schools in Palau received basketball and t-shirt donations from Kyowa Shipping Company.

The schools of Maris Stella, Belau Modekngai and Seventh Day Adventist each received twelve sports t-shirts and eight basketballs.

Kuniwo Nakamura of Western Pacific Shipping turned over the donation to the schools on behalf of Kyowa in a simple turnover ceremony at Longshoremen Restaurant on Wednesday, July 29.

Nakamura said Kyowa has donated several times to private organizations as well as to the national government.

Kyowa is based in Tokyo, Japan and has been in business with Palau for over forty years including the south Pacific area and Southeast Asia including Taipei and other major cities.

Kyowa president, Mr. Hiromitsu Takamatsu, in his letter to the school principals, said " we are pleased to donate basketballs and t-shirts for your school as a token of our appreciation and friendship with the people of the Republic of Palau."

BMS teacher David Ngrakesau and MSS principal Felix Okabe received donations on behalf of their school. SDA was not able to make it to the turnover ceremony. The recipients, however, both appreciate the donation and stated that the donations will help their school in preparation for the inter school leagues this coming school year.

David Ngrakesau(left) and Felix Okabe(right) with Kuniwo Nakamura of Western Pacific Shipping company at the turnover ceremony at Longshoremen restaurant.